our products

We provide and support training at all levels and enhance good lighting capabilities. Knowledge, expertise and technology are essential when creating visual offerings for an environment that satisfies and achieves what customers want. Furthermore, we educate basic skills and provide basic knowledge about lighting.

Lighting affects almost every aspect of our lives, as light is itself a life. When we are at home, at work or on the way, we always take lighting for granted. We managed not only to control lighting, but also to enlighten indoor spaces in a more reliable way.

Light is invisible, and is invisible until reflected on an object or surface. This is why the distribution and study of lighting we do with the utmost creativity.

Whether it's natural or artificial light. Its effect balances the forms of architecture, while improving the appearance of space or increasing human experience. Lighting has a direct impact on our lives: good lighting lifts the mood and contributes greatly to a sense of luxury. Therefore, controlling this medium gives the choice and distribution of lighting the ability to introduce dynamics to the place and create a multiple mood and atmosphere.

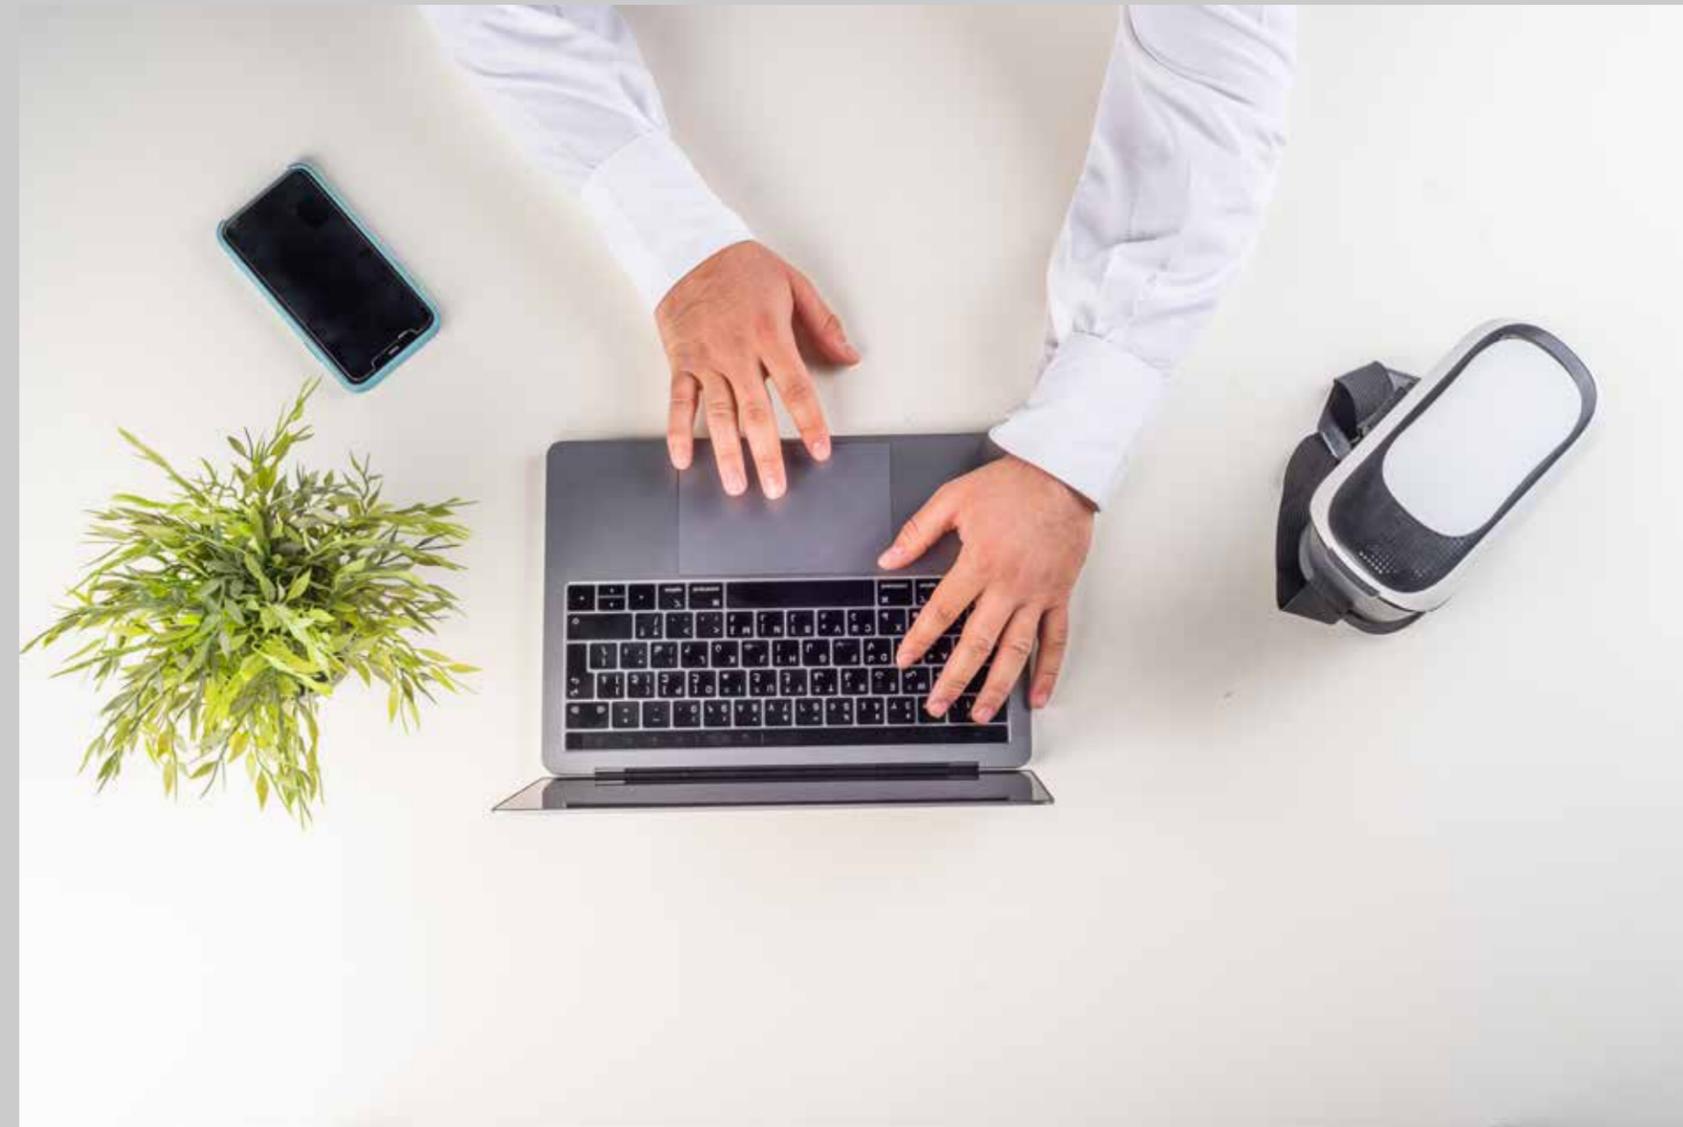

Lighting affects almost every aspect of our lives, because light is itself a life.

we do lighting orientation workshops

To present the idea and concept of lighting, supply, distribution and specifications, we first get the design summary from the architect and/or owner in order to work with them to develop different plans and studies.

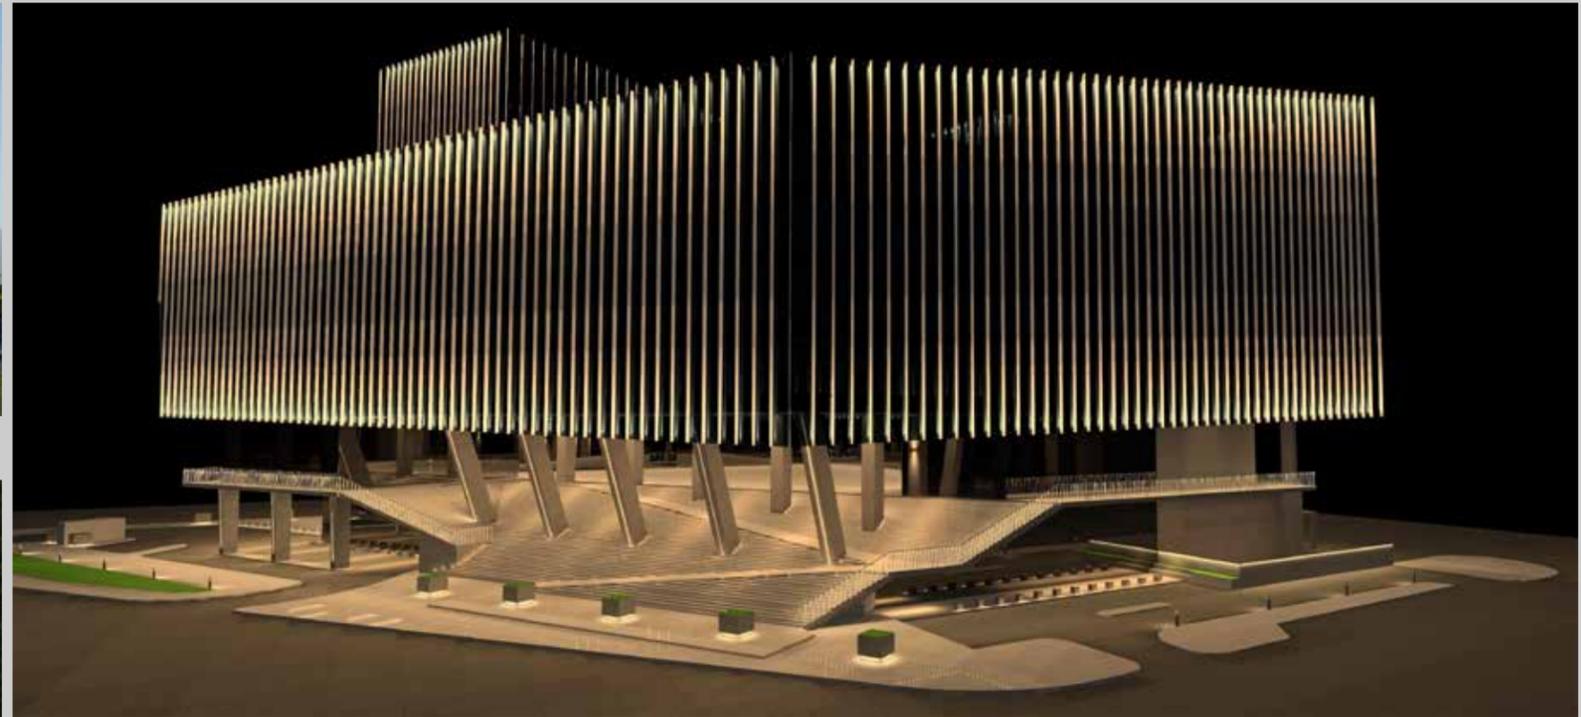

In the distribution and study phase, we also conduct field visits and inspections to ensure that studies meet architectural and structural regulations. Studies are conducted through modern lighting programs and are developed in accordance with CIE (European) and or IES (Lighting Engineering Association) regulations and standards.
